

COMMERCIAL CLUB
TO BANQUET NOV. 12

Big Get Together Meeting, With Music, Entertainment, Speeches and Eats to be Held.

TICKETS ON SALE TOMORROW

Banquet Will be Served in Lutheran Club Building, and Will be Followed by Business Session.

The banquet and reorganization meeting of the Seymour Commercial Club will occur on the evening of Friday, Nov. 12, in the auditorium of the Lutheran Club Building. This was determined at a meeting of the committee, which had been previously named by the board of directors, at the Seymour National Bank last evening. At the meeting many important matters will come up for consideration, including the election of a new board of directors, who in turn will select a new corps of officers, revisions of the by laws, the question of securing permanent headquarters for the club and a more active campaign for municipal welfare and improvement.

The event promises to be a red letter day in the history of the Commercial Club, and the day from which a new chapter in the development and upbuilding of Seymour will be dated. The banquet itself is to be an elaborate affair, and will be served by the ladies of the Lutheran church, whose reputation in the culinary art is well known. There will be music, entertainment and speeches. The principal speaker for the evening has not yet been secured, but the committee is in correspondence with a man who is recognized as an ideal speaker for the occasion, and announcement will be made as soon as he is secured.

Plates for the banquet will be $1.00 and the ticket committee will place the tickets on sale tomorrow morning. A canvass of the members and prospective members will be made by the committee, and tickets may also be secured on application at the Republican office. From the present indications a banner crowd is going to be present, and the ticket committee is counting on putting out 150 tickets. A whirlwind campaign will be carried out tomorrow in an effort to dispose of all the tickets as soon as possible.

The following committees were named at a recent meeting of the directors, and the arrangements will be in their hands: General arrangements, A. H. Ahlbrand, W. L. Johnson, N. Kaufman; By-laws, T. S. Blish, George Huber, Victor Fettig; Tickets, C. B. Davis, J. H. Andrews, W. L. Clark, F. J. Voss, C. R. Switzer, L. C. Gifford, Fred Able.

Meeting last night many different matters were discussed, among which the idea of securing suitable club rooms or headquarters for the club was probably given the most attention. It was the expression of all present that such a step would be the most profitable one that could possibly be taken. The idea of having a noon-day luncheon once a week, with a short speech by some member and a social hour together was also brought up and received the hearty approval of all the committeemen. These and many other excellent ideas will be presented to the membership at the meeting next week, and it is altogether probable that several of them will be acted upon. The committee on revision of the constitution made several suggestions as to proposed changes, which will be taken up with the membership.

While the event will be primarily for the purpose of effecting a working organization, naming committees and assigning them definite work, arranging for regular monthly meetings of the directors and quarterly meetings of the entire membership, yet the social side of the affair will be given a great deal of attention, and the program of music entertainment, speeches and eats that will be on tap will make it an occasion long to be remembered among the business and professional men of Seymour.

Get your ticket tomorrow, and be sure of a seat at the big banquet, Friday evening, November 12.

AUTOMOBILE DITCHED WHEN STEERING GEARS BREAK

Curtis Clappitt, of Norman Station, and Festus Emmons, of Medora, Injured.

Broken gears at the base of the steering wheel were the cause of an automobile accident on West Second street about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. In the car which was wrecked were Henry Dodds and Festus Emmons, of Medora, and Curtis Clappitt, of Norman Station. The men are timber buyers and were returning home from North Vernon.

On West Second street, near the Swain-Roach Lumber Company's mills, the gears on the steering wheel broke and Mr. Dodds, who was driving the car, steered the machine into a ditch to avoid striking a telephone pole. The car was owned by the driver. Mr. Clappitt, who is more than six feet tall, was thrown from the car head first and hit the ground on his head about twenty feet from the machine. His neck was scratched and bruised. Mr. Dodds and Mr. Emmons did not leave the car. The former was not hurt but the latter was thrown against the windshield. The glass was broken to small pieces and Mr. Emmons was painfully cut about the head and face. A local physician was called and the men went to his office where their injuries were dressed.

The car was wrecked when it hit the ditch. The men claimed they were driving about twelve miles an hour when the accident occurred.

WILL FILE MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN DAMAGE SUIT

Stated That Records Will Then be Examined to Ascertain if Appeal Will be Taken.

Judge O. H. Montgomery, senior member of the law firm of Montgomery & Montgomery, said today that he would go to Scottsburg Thursday and file a motion for a new trial in the case filed by Leona Greer against T. S. Blish. The trial was held there last week and the plaintiff was awarded $1,000 for alleged injuries received when the defendant's automobile is alleged to have collided with a buggy in which she was riding.

Judge Montgomery said it was not definitely decided whether or not an appeal would be taken to a higher court, and after this is filed the records will be examined to ascertain upon what points an appeal will be taken if such action is decided upon.

CORN SHOW PLANS TO BE ARRANGED

Committee Will Meet With County Agent Cobb Thursday Afternoon to Arrange Details.

FINE DISPLAYS PROMISED

Exhibit Will Probably be Held on Floor of Local Garage—Dec. 1, 2, 3, The Dates.

T. S. Blish, who was named chairman of the committee to take up the matter of the Jackson County Corn Show, last night named a committee which will meet with County Agent Cobb at the Farmer's Club building Thursday afternoon at four o'clock to take the first step in effecting the arrangements for the show, the dates for which have been set for December 1, 2 and 3.

The committee named by Mr. Blish is as follows: H. C. Johnson, A. H. Ahlbrand, J. E. Graham, G. H. Anderson, W. L. Johnson, Charles Roeger, Oscar Carter, N. Kaufman, V. Fettig, Geo. Huber, C. B. Davis and L. L. Bollinger. They will hear the recommendations of Mr. Cobb, who has just returned from attending the county agents' meeting at Purdue, and determine upon the plan to be adopted. From all reports the township show plan, that of having each township hold its own contest, the winners to enter in the county show to be held here, is favored. However, if this plan is adopted the matter will have to be put up to the various townships at once, as the time is limited.

It is understood that arrangements have already been made to secure a local garage in which to hold the show, and it is thought that it would provide a sufficiently large floor space to allow a good display of the exhibits. The matter of arranging the program for the three days will also be taken up. Mr. Cobb has already secured the promise of Prof. G. I. Christie, of Purdue, to speak, and it is probable another speaker or other attraction may be secured.

Mr. Cobb states that the prospect for some excellent displays of corn is very encouraging, and that he expects to have corn shown here which will put Jackson county on the map of Indiana as one of the best corn counties in the entire state.

MANY FUR PELTS
MARKETED HERE

Open Season for Trapping Began November 1 and Continues Until April 1.

QUAIL IN DANGER AFTER 10TH

Local Hunters Make Preparations For Season which Will Close December 20.

Since the opening of the season for hunting and trapping fur bearing animals many pelts have been brought to this city but the buyers do not expect the market to reach its height until after the first of the year. It is stated that the pelts that have been brought here since the first of the month have been light and the fur will not be in the best condition until after a period of cold weather with heavy frosts. Opposum pelts are bringing from forty cents to $1.25 in the local markets. Only a few pelts from skunks and raccoons have been marketed as yet and the price paid for them depends upon their weight and quality.

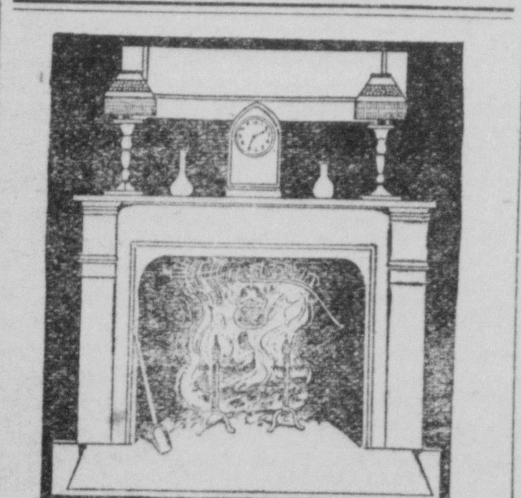

The season for hunting and trapping fur bearing animals opened November 1 and will not close until April 1. The first day of this month also marked the close of the squirrel season. The open season for hunting quail will begin November 20 and will continue until December 20. There is some complaint from the farming communities relative to the dates of the open quail season as it is stated that during the period the farmers are busy with their fall work and it is not possible for them to take advantage of the opportunity to hunt birds.

The period from November 1 until November 10 is closed for almost all kinds of hunting except for fur bearing animals and rabbits. Farmers state that there are many rabbits in this section of the state this year and that birds are plentiful in some parts of the county. Hunters are already anxiously awaiting the arrival of November 10 and scores of them will embark on their first hunting expeditions on that day. Hardware dealers say that the sale of shotgun shells is increasing which would indicate that many birds will at least be made targets during this month.

The law relative to hunting and trapping fur bearing animals says that the season is closed except from November 1 to April 1. However muskrats, raccoons and other animals may be killed when they endanger any levee, dyke or public drain. Scores of trappers hunt fur bearing animals along the rivers and streams in this county.

Local buyers say that many fine fox pelts are sold in this city each year. As yet, however, none has been brought in and very few are expected until after cold weather. These animals are found in the hills in the west part of the county and quite a number are shot each year in the south part of the county. The hills in Jennings county are said to furnish many each year to the local markets.

It is reported that the prices for pelts from fur bearing animals will be higher with the coming of colder weather.

weather. As the temperature this fall has been very moderate the fur is said to be light and not of the best quality.

WINEINGER GETS TERM

The jury was still out at 3:30 o'clock.

The case of the state against Thurman Bridgewater is on trial this afternoon. The defendant is charged with assault and battery with intent. The trouble occurred in this city.

The case of the state against Elm is set for trial tomorrow. The defendant is charged with a violation of the liquor laws.

LOCAL ROAD CONTRACTORS

James DeGolyer and W. P. Masters & Co. Submit Low Figures on Work at Noblesville.

James DeGolyer, a local road contractor, was one of the low bidders on a big concrete highway contract that was awarded in Hamilton county Tuesday. The road to be improved is about one and one-half miles long and is located just at the edge of Noblesville. A large number of bids were filed on the work and ranged from $23,880 to $18,864.

Mr. DeGolyer filed a bid for $20,105. W. P. Masters & Co., also of this city, submitted a bid of $20,234. Mr. DeGolyer this week also went to Elkhart and Goshen to look after some contracts that are to be let soon but did not file bids as he believed the estimates were too low. Mr. DeGolyer will go to Indianapolis tomorrow on business.

HILLES ANALYZES
ELECTION RETURNS

Republican National Chairman Says Results Yesterday Forecast 1916 Victory.

M'COMBBS ISSUES STATEMENT

McCall Elected Governor of Massachusetts—Stanley Wins in Kentucky.

By United Press.

New York, November 3.—Republican gains in the majority of states voting yesterday were confirmed by practically complete returns today. There was no landslide, but, excepting in New York City, there was an unmistakable trend towards the Republican party and the return of former Progressives to the fold. The third party almost disappeared in the Eastern states.

Republican National Chairman Hilles declares the overthrow of a Democratic governor in Massachusetts and a Republican victory elsewhere showed a lack of confidence in President Wilson and indicated a Republican victory in 1916.

"The Bay State campaign was one of national issues from the first," he said. "Both parties made it plain that a vote for McCall was a sign of disapproval for Wilson."

National Democratic Chairman Coombs said the defeat of Governor Walsh could not be considered as a disapproval of the Wilson administration. "I am not greatly surprised at the news," he said. "The Democrats have been fighting against themselves in Massachusetts while the Progressives and Republicans united behind Mr. McCall."

Governor Walsh who won from McCall by 11,113 last election year was defeated by a plurality of 6,363, according to complete returns today.

Summarized, the results of the elections follow:

New York—Suffrage defeated by 200,000. New constitution defeated by 450,000. Three Republican congressmen elected. Republican assembly elected. Entire Tammany ticket in New York county elected.

Pennsylvania—Suffrage beaten by about 130,000. One Republican congressman elected. Thomas S. Smith, Republican, elected mayor of Philadelphia by 75,000.

Massachusetts—Suffrage beaten by 132,000. Samuel W. McCall, Rep., elected governor over David I. Walsh by 6,363. Republican legislature elected by decided gains.

Ohio—Statewide prohibition defeated by between 50,000 and 60,000. Last year the majority was 84,000 against.

Maryland—Emerson C. Garrington, Dem., elected governor by about 6,000.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. THOMSON, 649 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

S. S. CLASS ENTERTAINS.

The class of young men of the First M. E. Sunday School, of which L. C. Griffiths is teacher, entertained last night at the Sunday School rooms, with a unique and most enjoyable social. The guests were the members and friends of the school of sixteen years and over. The room was tastefully decorated in keeping with the Halloween season.

The entertainment took place in what had been arranged as a court room. Kingsley Brinklow acted as judge and Paul Bloomer was prosecuting attorney. William DeMundrum was the attorney for the defendants and Warren Cross was sheriff. Considerable merriment was occasioned by the summonses issued by the court and served by the sheriff on unsuspected spectators who were charged with various offenses, ranging from the theft of chickens to robbing the "U. S. Males." The evidence had been prepared prior to the social and when the defendants were found guilty, and none escaped, the fines were assessed in the way of songs, readings and addresses which composed the program for the remainder of the evening.

The audience was kept in a roar of laughter throughout the court session. The members of the class were congratulated by the other members of the school for the success of the entertainment and the novelty of the program. During the evening light refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed.

PENNSYLVANIA VOTERS
DENY BALLOT TO WOMEN

Amendment May Be Defeated by Only 10,000, Late Complete Returns Indicate.

By United Press.
Philadelphia, November 3—Incomplete returns from all election districts in Pennsylvania this afternoon indicated that women's suffrage was defeated by not more than 17,000.

Latest returns from twenty-two counties in western Pennsylvania including Allegheny county indicated the defeat of the amendment of only 10,000. It is very probable that this county, which includes Pittsburgh, has supported votes for women.

Many of the central counties have reported the defeat of suffrage, but it is conceded that the majority will not exceed 25,000 and may run as low as 10,000.

KENTUCKY IS CLAIMED
BY DEMOCRATS BY 10,000

Republicans Believe Complete Returns From Mountain Counties May Overcome Lead.

By United Press.
Louisville, November 3—Returns from more than one hundred out of more than 120 counties in Kentucky today showed that the Democratic ticket carried Kentucky and that A. O. Stanley was elected governor by apparently more than 10,000.

The Republicans refused to concede the election, however, and still claim Edwin Morrow will be shown a winner on complete returns. The Republicans are banking their hopes on returns from mountain counties. The Republicans cut McCreary's 21,000 majority in 1911 materially.

The Bull Moose practically disappeared in yesterday's election in Kentucky. The Democrats have carried the legislature overwhelmingly.

A. O. Stanley was chief counsel for Donn Roberts of Terre Haute in his trial in federal court in Indianapolis which resulted in Roberts being sent to Leavenworth prison for a long term.

VANGUARD READY FOR FIRST FIGHT

Advanced Meeting of "Steering" Committees Scheduled for Congressional Session.

FACTIONAL STRIFE PROMISED

Woman's Suffrage, Mexican Policy and Other Questions Are in The Foreground.

By United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Nov. 3—The vanguard of political armies of the Sixty-fourth Congress was assembling here today. Congress will reconvene Dec. 6.

Within a fortnight, advance meetings of "steering" committees are scheduled. Party caucuses are arranged. President Wilson is completing data for his opening "address" which it is understood, he will again deliver in person.

The legislative program, already largely framed promises unusual factional strife, the fate of two or three political parties being at stake and presidential prospects, with many booms due for puncturing, involved.

Shortly after Congress meets annual conferences of republican and democratic committees are scheduled to begin firing heavy artillery of the next Presidential campaign.

Legislation provoked by war conditions promises to monopolize attention. The administration plans to expedite passage of a resolution on extending the war tax at least another year. It expires Dec. 31. Another resolution for prompt action will be that continuing the tariff on sugar, now scheduled to go on the free list in May.

Woman suffrage hosts are planning a monster demonstration at the opening of Congress. Increased appropriations for the army and navy are regarded as certain. The administration's Mexican policy is due for analysis. The discussion will determine how important an issue it will be in the presidential campaign.

Another big battle over the government ship purchase bill is believed inevitable because of division among Democratic House leaders. Among the political developments impending will be the extent of Republican and Bull Moose amalgamation and the degree of unity in the Democratic party.

The House is expected to be the arena of the sharpest controversies, the overwhelming Democratic majority there of the last Congress being cut to a scant 25. The appearance of new democratic leaders there and the return of Republican veterans like "Uncle Joe" Cannon, William McKinley and "Nick" Longworth, lend interest. Speaker Champ Clark, Republican leader Mann, and Representative Kitchen, Democratic leader, are expected to be reelected.

SILVER FOX FARMING IS HIGHLY SPECULATIVE

However, as Long as Present Prices Prevail Business Will Continue Profitable.

By United Press.
Washington, November 3.—Silver fox farming, the possibilities of which have attracted considerable attention in recent years because of the money milady spends for silver fox furs is under present conditions a highly speculative and uncertain business, according to specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Since 1910 the profits in the business have been derived chiefly from the sale of live foxes for breeding. Recently the demand for these foxes has fallen off because milady's fancy changed and in consequence there has been a sharp decline in prices.

As long as high prices for the pelts are maintained, black and silver fox farming offers good opportunities for reasonable returns providing that the location of the farm and other conditions are favorable.

The silver fox can be raised wherever foxes live in a wild state but the fur will be of a superior quality in the eastern and northern states.

A pair of good breeding foxes have been known to bring several thousand dollars each on the market but common silvers can be purchased for breeding purposes for from $150 to $200 each. The silver fox is very nervous. The female is so nervous she will often kill her young to protect them from imaginary dangers.

Foxes require great care in feeding and a varied diet; which includes meat, fish, mush, milk, bread, and table scraps. From $5 to $15 a year for each animal must be allowed for feeding. Only about half of the female foxes produce young in any given year and as the average litter is four cubs the annual increase on fox farms does not average above 100 per cent.

You can see just how many different types of figures are transformed into beautiful figures through the correct fitting of a Gossard Corset. Every figure type shown in the film can be correctly fitted at this store.

Complimentary passes will be issued by us and you can obtain as many as you like for yourself and your friends by calling at our Corset Department. HONOR IS CONFERRED UPON LOCAL WOODMEN

Drill Team of Seymour Foresters
Under Captaincy of Claud
Carter to Give Work.

In recognition of the excellent work that is done by the degree staff of the local camp of Modern Woodmen a signal honor has been conferred upon the entire camp by the request that the local team confer the degree at the district meeting which will be held at North Vernon on the night of November 24. The drill team, composed of twenty-four foresters with Claud Carter as captain, has been drilling each Wednesday night in preparation for the big meeting.

Especially importance is attached to the meeting at North Vernon as a large class of candidates will be given the work which will be the first time the new ritual will be used since the changes were adopted the first of October. It is said that the work is much more beautiful and impressive under the new ritual and the local team is working hard to give it in the best manner possible. The candidates will come from the various camps in the Fourth district.
North Vernon was selected as the place for holding the meeting as it was centrally located and also because it is the home of District Deputy Wolfe.

The Woodmen of this county are expecting to hold a meeting in Seymour some time next month and a class of candidates will be given the work. The local team will also have charge of the initiation.

Douglass, Ariz., November 3—Carranza artillery in Agua Prieta has opened a terrific bombardment on the Villista lines. Douglass streets were crowded at the time and inhabitants were thrown into the greatest excitement. Many children going to school sought shelter. Superintendent Lutz afterwards announced the schools would be closed until the

THE GREATEST BLOOD PURIFIER EVER DISCOVERED

Thousands bears testimony to a remedy that has stood the test of over half a century—S. S. S.

Possibly there is no remedy ever compounded by the hand of man that has been able to show such a clean record for the wonderful effect it has had in remedying the ills of men and women. The library of the Swift Specific Company in Atlanta is a veritable treasure chest of testimonials, setting forth in distinct and indisputable language how S. S. S. has banished the horrible suffering of Rheumatism. There are thousands and thousands of letters from grateful fathers who have at last the knowledge that the hereditary taint that was discovered in their blood will not have to be handed down to their children. Here are wonderful records to tell where the horrible suffering of Catarrh has gone forever, where skin diseases that have disfigured the face and features have left them as clean and wholesome as nature intended them to be. Cases of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, Tetter, Rash—case after case of so-called skin diseases which have been brought to bay by the marvelous tonic effects of S. S. S. Tell-tale Scrofula no longer has its terrors, for the famous remedy, like a guardian angel, stands ready to banish it. The chief thing for the sufferer from blood diseases, and Rheumatism is one of the worst of them, is to realize that they cannot be cured by rubbing, by douches of hot water, salves, lotions or any outward or external treatment. These remedies that soothe often do no more than aggravate the trouble in the long run. Believe that even pimples are the danger signal of bad blood and treat the blood and not the pimple and the relief is sure. Medical advice is free to any sufferer from blood disorders or skin diseases. You know your symptoms. This is the opportunity to secure special advice from Physicians who have for fifty years been making a study of blood diseases, particularly Poison Blood, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Eczema, the hardening of blood vessels from old age. Write today for special advice. Avoid substitutes. If you suffer from any of the troubles mentioned go straight to your druggist and get a bottle of S. S. S.—then write us. TROOPS READY FOR SERVICE

Gen. Funston Arrives at Border to Take Command.

VILLA HURLED BACK BY FOE

Mexican Armies Are Again Notified That Wounding of Americans Must Stop—Eleven More Wounded by Stray Bullets.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 3.—After being repulsed after terrible assaults upon the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, the army of General Villa withdrew and professed to be waiting for more ammunition and reinforcements.

Eleven persons had been shot on the American side, two American soldiers having been added to the list when the bullets from Villa machine guns hit Sergeant Walter Mayo and Private James Mitchell, who were in a trench near the United States custom house.

Throwing themselves against the Carranza fortifications protecting Agua Prieta, with terrific fury as a climax to a fourteen-hour attack, the Villistas made the supreme attempt of the night to carry the breastworks by storm.

The Carranzacista defenders exploded mines and ploughed into their ranks with machine guns and sharpshooters until the entire Villa army was thrown back. The Villa Yaqui Indian contingent is said to have borne the brunt of the charge, General Calles, the Carranza commander, asserts, and that at least three hundred of the Villa troops were killed in that one charge alone.

At daybreak the Villa gunners renewed their cannonading while a large force of Villa cavalry headed back southeast for ammunition, it was explained later.

General Funston, who reached here to take command of the American forces just as the battle sounds were dying away, sent sharp warnings to both Villa and Calles that the wounding of Americans must stop. However, a similar warning had gone forth before and ten of the fifteen persons wounded on United States soil were shot since that time.

Shortly after sending his warning in the afternoon to the Mexican commanders, General Funston ordered the American troops back from the line and had them force back all spectators. The men were ordered to pack their supplies and prepare for actual field duty.

SUFFRAGE MEETS WITH DEFEAT

Three Eastern States Vote Down Measure.

N. Y. CONSTITUTION LOST

Only Three Counties in State Vote For Proposed Fundamental Law—Ohio Gives Plurality Against State-Wide Prohibition.

New York, Nov. 3.—The defeat of woman suffrage in all states in which it was an issue—New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania; a wet victory in Ohio and the election of McCall for governor of Massachusetts were the outstanding results in the election.

The returns indicate that suffrage was beaten in New York by not far from 200,000. The majority against it in New York city was 92,600.

Three congressmen were voted for in New York state, in the Twenty-third, Thirty-first and Thirty-eighth districts. The Thirty-first and Thirty-eighth districts are safely Republican, and the returns indicate that former Congressman William S. Bennet, (Rep.), carried the Twenty-third district.

The lower house of the legislature is safely Republican; the returns indicating that the assembly will stand: Republicans 95, Democrats 53, Progressives 1; Socialists 1. The lone Progressive is Hamilton Fish, Jr., whose father was once speaker of the house and whose grandfather was once secretary of state of the United States.

In New York county the Tammany ticket won easily. The indicated plurality for Judge Swann for district attorney is 37,200, and for Alfred Smith for sheriff 47,501. The nonpartisan judiciary ticket was elected.

In New Jersey they elected three Democratic senators three Republican senators, making the senate stand thirteen Republicans and eight Democrats. For the assembly they elected forty Republicans and twenty Democrats.

In New York the returns indicate that only three counties in the entire state voted for the new constitution.

In Mississippi a full set of state, county and district officers were voted for.

In Pennsylvania, Temple, Republican and Progressive candidate for congress in the Twenty-fourth district, was elected by about 10,000, and Smith, Republican candidate for mayor in Philadelphia, was elected by upward of 80,000. He carried with him into office all the other candidates for city offices on the ticket. Woman suffrage lost in Pennsylvania, but the ladies made a red hot fight.

In Ohio state-wide prohibition was defeated by upward of 40,000. Cincinnati elected a Republican mayor. In Maryland the Democratic candidate for governor was elected, and the home rule for cities proposition probably was carried. In Maryland only did international politics crop out. The Citizens' union of that state, whose membership includes the members of nearly all of the German societies of the state, advised its members to vote against the Democratic candidate for governor, as a German protest against the administration.

In Kentucky, Stanley, the Democratic candidate for governor, appears to be safely elected, but the full returns will be very late.

McCall, Republican candidate for governor in Massachusetts was elected over the present incumbent, Gov. Walsh, by about 3,500. Woman's suffrage in that state was defeated by about two to one. In Schenectady the Socialists repeated history. Dr. George R. Lynn was re-elected mayor and Dr. Charles D. Steinmetz, the consulting engineer of the general Electric company, and one of the great scientists of the world, a Socialist, was elected president of the common council. All the other offices voted for in Schenectady went to the Republicans.

CLOSE RACE IN KENTUCKY

With Eighty-Three Counties Departed, Stanley Has 12,000 Majority.

Louisville, Nov. 3.—With eighty-three counties reported A. O. Stanley, Democratic nominee for governor, has a majority of 12,000 over Edwin P. Morrow, Republican nominee. The race is the closest since 1890.

Both parties are claiming the election by safe majorities. The Democrats claim that when the western Kentucky vote is completed that it will show Stanley a winner by a safe lead. There are several heavy Republican votes in the mountains which have not yet reported.

ELECTION ISSUES IN EIGHT STATES

Suffrage Paramount Issue In Several States.

New York, Nov. 3.—The election and issues voted on were:

Maryland—A governor, comptroller of the treasury, an attorney general, a full house of delegates, one-half of the state senate and four constitutional amendments.

Massachusetts—Suffrage, giving the legislature authority to impose income tax and similar authority to the taking over of country districts for those who may wish to escape from the more congested quarters of the cities.

Kentucky—A governor, all state officers, one-half of the state senate and the entire assembly.

Mississippi—A full list of state, county and district officers, as well as members of both branches of the legislature.

New Jersey—Voting is confined to the election of six members of the senate and the full membership of sixty in the house.

New York—The suffrage issue and the new state constitution are the chief importance. Also fifteen members of the assembly, eleven supreme court justices, three congressmen, as well as county and city officials—the latter only in a few sections.

Ohio—Prohibition of the liquor traffic in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment and the Sprague redistricting bill. All cities will elect mayors and other municipal officers, but no state officers.

Pennsylvania—Women's suffrage. No state officers are to be elected, except three superior court judges to fill vacancies.

M'CALL DEFEATS GOV. WALSH

Elected Governor of Massachusetts by 13,000 Plurality.

Boston, Nov. 3.—Samuel W. McCall (Rep.), was elected governor of Massachusetts by 3,500 plurality over Governor Walsh (Dem.). The entire Republican state ticket was elected. The legislature shows gains for the Republicans in both houses. The Progressive party failed to cast 3 per cent of the total vote for governor and by law will not have a place at next year's balloting.

The suffrage movement was defeated about 2 to 1, or about 100,000 votes. Governor Walsh ran ahead of his ticket throughout the state, his vote showing a gain of about 8 per cent over a year ago, but that of Mr. McCall was better by about 30 per cent.

William Shaw, the Prohibition nominee, ran away ahead of Professor Evans, last year's candidate.

Calvin Coolidge of Northampton, (Rep.), was elected lieutenant governor.

Republican incumbents, secretary of state, Albert P. Langtry; treasurer, Charles L. Burrill; attorney-general, Henry C. Atwill.

WILL INVITE CONVENTIONS

Chicago Is Raising Money to Secure the Great Conventions.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—All of the first $100,000 has been raised and the second $100,000 will be subscribed before the end of next week for the entertainment of the two big national political conventions that are to be invited to come to Chicago.

The national committee of the Republican and Democratic parties will meet next month to decide upon the location for the conventions.

Prisoner Suicides.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 3.—Arrested for drunkenness, John Zenschel, a brewery employe, committed suicide in his jail cell here by hanging himself with his belt to a water pipe.

CACACK FALLS BEFORE TEUTONS

Serbian Forced Again to Move Capital.

MORE ALLIED TROOPS ARRIVE

French and British Transports Land Reinforcements Off Greek Port of Kavol—Bulgars Lose 25,000 Men at Kuprili.

London, Nov. 3.—The latest temporary capital of Serbia, Cacack, of military importance as a railway point, has been captured by the Austro-German troops, according to an official statement issued in Berlin.

The town is thirty miles southwest of Kraguevats. The Serbian capital has been moved to Mitrovitza.

A dispatch from Rome says that 50,000 British and French troops are advancing from Krivolok, and are outflanking the Bulgarians. The Bulgarian losses at Kuprili are estimated in the Rome dispatch, as exceeding 25,000 men.

Word has been received in Berlin of the arrival of French and British transports off the Greek port of Kavala, eighty miles northeast of Salonica. No announcement has been made in London or Paris of an expedition to be based on this port.

Berlin hears that Greek troops have fired on a French force retreating before the Bulgarians to Greek territory.

German submarines in the Mediterranean have been ordered to blockade Greek ports, according to a Munich dispatch received in Lausanne.

The Serbian army in central Serbia has been cut off from communications to the southward, where the Anglo-French forces are fighting their way toward the north, according to an Athens dispatch. The correspondent says it is feared that Monastir has been captured by the Bulgarians. The city which is connected by rail with Salonica, is eight miles north of the Greek border and directly south of Uskub.

The capture of the town would indicate that the Bulgarians have been able to force their way across the greater part of the width of southern Serbia. The Messagero says in connection with this Bulgarian operation that the Bulgarians are arming Albanian bands to harry the southern Serbian army in the rear and thus aid the Bulgarians in cutting their way through the Adriatic.

OHIO WETS WIN BY 40,000

Referendum Amendment Has Been Defeated by Small Margin.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 3.—The voters of Ohio rejected for the second time in two years a proposition for state-wide prohibition. The wets won by probably forty thousand.

The dries made inroads on the wet strength in the large cities, and also increased the dry vote in the counties which voted down rum a year ago.

The referendum stability amendment, backed by the wets, has been defeated, although the margin is expected to be small. In Cleveland alone the majority against the amendment is figured at 36,000.

The Sprague congressional redistricting act was defeated, the returns indicate.

The McDermott liquor license law and the proposal to extend terms of county officers, were also defeated, the latter by a large majority. The bond taxation exemption amendment was carried by a large majority.

ELECTION WAS QUIET ONE

For Early Voting and General Interest, Beat All Records.

New York, Nov. 3.—For heavy early voting, general interest in the election beat all records in an "off year." This was the opinion of political managers, police officials and observers whose business it was to keep tab on the flow of votes.

Fine weather, a clear, cool, sunny day contributed largely to the rapid, smooth working of the vote in this city. The good order maintained at practically every polling place was a most agreeable feature of the election.

But pleasant even than this was the general air of courtesy and politeness shown at nearly all of the polling places. The police had little to do. This state of affairs was attributed, rightly or wrongly, to the presence of women watchers at the polls. The most confirmed opponents of woman suffrage had to admit that there was a change for the better.

Mill Blown Up; Fourteen Hurt.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 3.—Fourteen men were injured in an explosion at the Du Pont powder works at Carney's Point, N. J. The injured were brought to the Wilmington hospital. No deaths have been reported.

Votes Out Saloons.

Jasonville, Ind., Nov. 3.—Every ward in Jasonville was carried by the dries in the local option election, the majority for the town being 138. Ten saloons will go out of business in ninety days.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Mr. Knox will make the fight for Pennsylvania toga on a straight tariff issue. He was President McKinley's attorney-general and also served in the federal senate at Washington.

ASQUITH CONFIDENT ALLIES WILL WIN

Warns British Public of Nation's Finances.

London, Nov. 3.—Asserting that he would not resign, that he refused to appear before the house as a "criminal or a penitent in a white sheet," and that he was as confident as ever that the allies would carry their righteous cause to a triumph issue, Herbert H. Asquith, the prime minister, made his eagerly awaited formal statement on the progress of the war in the house of commons.

The premier paid a warm tribute to the British navy for its great achievement in sweeping German commerce and German warships from the seas, and in transporting troops.

France and Great Britain, he said, were in full accord in the firm purpose to preserve the independence of Serbia.

"The war must be won," said the prime minister. "While expressing the belief that compulsory service would not be necessary he added that the government would not hesitate to enforce whatever measures might be required if voluntarily recruiting proved inadequate.

The prime minister revealed that Eleutherios Venizelos, while prime minister of Greece, on Sept. 21, promised the mobilization of the Greek army if France and Great Britain would send 150,000 men to the near east.

The British public was warned that the nation's financial situation was serious and that far greater sacrifices must be made so that triumph might be won.

ELECTIONS IN INDIANA TOWNS

Issues Were of a Local Nature Throughout State.

Indianapolis, Nov. 3.—Politics played little part in the town elections held throughout Indiana. The issues were purely local and in some places no tickets were nominated, the present officers being allowed to hold over. In many towns nonpartisan tickets were elected without opposition.

There are about four hundred incorporated towns in the state and elections were held in most of them. The offices voted for were those of marshal, clerk, treasurer and trustees.

Nashville adopted a bond issue of $7,000 to construct a municipal electric light plant.

NEW YORK STATE ELECTIONS

Results of Mayoralty Contests in the Elections.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 3.—John G. Thomas, Republican, has been elected mayor of Utica by thirty-four majority in a vote of 15,000. Suffrage was defeated by 2,632 plurality, and in the whole county of Oneida by 5,000.

At Mt. Vernon Edwin W. Fiske (Dem.), has been re-elected mayor for the eighth time.

At Syracuse Walter R. Stone (Rep.), has been elected mayor by 8,000 plurality.

Package Contained $7,000.

Brazil, Ind., Nov. 3.—Hugh McDonald, a coal miner, saw a package drop out of a buggy, in which two women were riding. He ran several blocks and gave the package to the women. The package contained more than $7,000. The women thanked McDonald and drove on.

Fall Probably Serious.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 3.—Edward Zapp, an electrician, fell from the second floor of the new Christian Science church here and suffered injuries that may result in his death.

CHAPTER XIX.

Once, when Anse Havey had been tramping all afternoon through the wintry woods with Juanita, he had pointed out a squirrel that sat erect on a branch high above them with its tail curled up behind it. He had stopped her with a touch on the arm; then, with a smile of amusement, he handed her his rifle with much the same manner that she might have handed him a novel in Russian, and his eyes said banteringly: "See what you can do with that."

But to his surprise she took the gun and leveled it as one accustomed to its use. Bad Anse Havey forgot the squirrel and saw only the slim figure in its loose sweater; only the stray wisps of curling hair and the softness of the cheek that snuggled against the rifle-stock. Then, at the report, the squirrel dropped.

She turned with a matter-of-fact nod and handed back the gun.

"I'm rather sorry I killed it," she said, "but you looked so full of scorn that I had to show you. You know, they do have a few rifles outside the Cumberland mountains."

"Where did you learn to shoot?" he demanded, and she answered casually: "I used to shoot a rifle and pistol, too, quite a good bit."

He took the gun back, and unconsciously his hand caressed the spot where her cheek had laid against its lock. He had fallen into a reverie out of which her voice called him. They had crossed the ridge itself and were overlooking his place.

"Why are they clearing that space behind your house? Are you going to put it in corn?"

"No," he laughed shortly. "Corn would be just about as bad as laurel."

He was instantly sorry he had said that. He had not meant to tell her of the plans he was making—plans of defense and, if need be, of offense. He had not intended to mention his precautions to prevent assassination at his own door or window.

But the girl understood, and her voice was heavy with anxiety as she demanded: "Do you think you're in danger, Anse?"

"There's never a day I'm not in danger," he replied casually. "I've got pretty well used to it."

"But some day," she broke out, "they'll get you."

He shrugged his shoulders. "Maybe," he said.

As Juanita's influence grew with Bad Anse Havey, so it was growing at the school. She had to turn away pupils who had come across the mountains on wearisome journeys because as yet she had only limited room and no teachers save herself and Dawn to care for the youngest.

At the front of the hall which led into the main school building was a rack with notches for rifles and pegs for pistols. She told all who entered that she made only one stipulation, and that was that whoever crossed the threshold must leave his armament at the door.

At first some men turned away again, taking their children with them, but as time went on they grudgingly acquiesced, and at last, with a sense of great victory, she persuaded three shaggy fathers, who were coming regularly with their children, to ride back home unarmed.

Disarmament was her idea for the great solution, and when Bad Anse came over—and he came every night now—she led him with almost breathless eagerness to the rack and showed him two modern rifles and one antiquated squirrel gun.

"What's the idea?" he asked with his skeptical smile. He found it very difficult to listen always to talk about the school in which he felt no interest and to regard his vow of silence as to herself whom he dumbly worshipped.

"Look around you, Anse," she commanded. "Do you see any dirt or dust anywhere? No; we are teaching cleanliness and sanitation, but there is just one place here where the spiders are welcome to come and spin their webs unmolested. It's that rack of guns. Did you ever hear of the shrine at Lourdes?"

"I reckon not," he confessed uneasily. Of late he had become a little ashamed of the things he did not know.

"Well, this is going to be like it, Anse. It is told that when the lame and halt and blind came to Lourdes to pray they went away straight and strong and clear of vision. There hang at the shrine there numberless crutches and canes, discarded because the men who were carried there went away needing them no more. Some day your old order of crippled things here in the mountains is going to become straight and strong, and these guns will be the discarded crutches."

He looked at her, and if no response was elicited by her prophecy, at least he could not contemplate without a stirring of enthusiasm the flushed face and glowing eye with which she spoke. It was all worth while if it could bring that sparkle of delight to her countenance.

"It's right pretty, but it won't hardly work," he said. "These men will leave them guns just so long as they don't need 'em. I'm glad to see ye pleased—but I don't want to see ye disappointed."

A little before Christmas old Milt McBriar went to Lexington, and there he met a heavily bearded man in rough clothes who had arrived that morning from the West. They conferred in a cheap eating house which bears a ragged and unwholesome appearance and is kept by an exile from the mountains.

"Now tell me, Milt," suggested Luke Thixton briefly, "what air this thing ye wants me ter do. I'm done with these hyar old flat lands thet they talks so much about."

But Milt McBriar's eyes had been vacantly watching the door. It was a glass door, with its lower portion painted red and bearing in black letters the name of the proprietor.

"Damn!" he exclaimed violently, but under his breath.

"What's bitin' ye?" asked his companion, as he bolted his food.

"I jest seed Breck Havey pass by that door," explained the chief. "But I reckon he couldn't hardly recognize you this fur back. I don't want no word of yore comin' ter go ahead of ye."

"What is it I'm a-goin' back ter do?" insisted the exile doggedly.

"Oh," commented Milt McBriar, "we've got ter talk thet over at some length. Ye're a-goin' back ter git Anse Havey, but ye hain't a-goin' jist yit."

One morning as he sat over his breakfast at the kitchen table, Anse's cousin, Breck Havey, rode up in hot haste to rouse him out of apathy and remind him that he must not shirk his role as leader of the clan.

"There Is Just One Place Here Where the Spiders Are Welcome."

The Havey from Peril came quickly to the point while the Havey of the backwoods listened.

"I was down ter Lexington yesterday, an' as I was passin' Jim Freeman's deadfall I happened ter look in. Thar was old Milt McBriar an' Luke Thixton, thar heads as close together as a pair of thieves. Luke hes come back from the West, an' I reckon ye kin figger out what that means."

Anse grew suddenly rigid and his face blackened. So his destiny was crowding him!

"What air ye goin' ter do?" demanded Breck with a tone of anxious and impotent pleading. Anse shook his head.

"I don't know—quite yet," he said. "Let's see, is the high cote in session?"

Breck Havey nodded his head in perplexed assent. He wondered what the court had to do with this exigency.

"All right, Tell Sidering to have the grand jury indict Luke for the McNash murder an' Milt McBriar as accessory—"

"Good God, Anse!" burst out the other Havey. "Does ye realize what hell ye turns loose when ye tries ter drag Old Milt ter cote in Peril?"

"Yes, I know that." The answer was calm. "I'll give ye a list of witnesses. Tell Sidering to keep these true bills secret. I'll ride over and testify myself, an' I'll 'tend to keepin' the witnesses quiet. I don't know whether we'll ever try these cases, but it's jist as well to be ready along every line."

Breck Havey stood gazing down at the hearth with a troubled face. At last he hazarded a remonstrance.

"Anse," he said, "I hain't never questioned ye. I've always took yore counsel. Ye're the head of the Haveys, but next to you I'm the man they harkens to most. If any man has got ter dispute yor, I reckon ye'd take it most willin'ly from me."

"What is it, Breck? I'm plumb willin' to listen to your counsel."

"Then I'll talk outspoken. Ter try ter convict these men in cote means to take a desperate chance. Ye can't hardly succeed, an' if ye fails ye've lost yore hold on the Haveys—yere plumb, eternally done for."

"I don't aim to fail."

"No; but ye mought. Anse, no man hain't never questioned yore loyalty tll now. I mought as well tell ye straight what talkin's goin' round."

Anse stiffened. "What is it?" he demanded.

"Some folks 'low that ther Haveys don't mean as much ter ye now as ther furrin' schoolteacher does. Them folks'll be pretty apt ter think ye ain't tryin' ter please them so much as her—if yer attempts this."

Anse stood for a long minute silent, and his bronzed features grew taut. At last he inquired coolly:

"What do you think, Breck?"

"I'd trust ye till hell froze."

"All right. Then do as I tells ye, an' if I fails I reckons you'll be head of the Haveys in my place."

Down at the school there was going to be a Christmas tree that year. Never before had the children of the "branch-water folks" heard of a Christmas tree. The season of Christ's birth had always been celebrated with moonshine jug and revolver. It was dreaded in advance and mourned over in retrospect.

New in many childish hearts large dreams were brewing. Eager anticipations awaited the marvels. The honored young fir tree which was to bear a fruitage of gifts and lights had been singled out and marked to the ax. Anse Havey and Juanita had explored the woods together, bent on its selection. Perhaps Juanita and Dawn were as much excited as the children, but to Dawn it meant more than to anyone else. She was to accompany Juanita to Lexington to buy gifts and decorations and would have her first wondrous glimpse of the lights and crowds of a city.

Milt was there at college and would be returning about the same time, so the mountain girl secretly wrote him of her coming. And even facing so grave a crisis, Anse Havey thought of that tree and hoped that Luke would not come back before Christmas.

That night, while he was sitting with Juanita and the fire was flashing on her cheeks, he said moodily: "I'm afraid ye'll have to start despisin' me all over again."

She looked up in astonishment. "Why?" she asked. "I've got to kill a man."

She rose from her chair, her face pallid.

"Kill a man?" she echoed.

"God knows I hate to do it." He rose, too, and stood before the hearth. "But I reckon it had better be me than Jeb."

"Do you mean—" she broke off and finished brokenly, "that Fletch's murderer is back?"

"He's comin'. He's comin' to kill somebody else. Most likely me. It's a question of settlin' scores with a murderer that kilt Fletch for a ticket West and a hundred dollars—or lettin' young Jeb McNash go crazy an' start in the feud all over again. I reckon ye sees that I ain't no choice."

She came nearer and stood confronting him so close that he felt her breath on his face. She broke out in a low, tense voice: "Suppose he kills you?"

"He'll have his chance," said Anse Havey shortly. "I ain't 'lowin' to shoot him down from ambush."

The girl leaned forward and clutched his hands in both her own. Under the tight pressure of her fingers he felt every nerve in his body tingle and leap into a hot ecstasy of emotion, while his face became white and drawn.

"Don't risk your life," she pleaded. "Your people can't spare you; I can't spare you. Not now, Anse; I need you too much."

The man's voice came in a hoarse whisper.

"Ye needs me?"

"Yes, yes," she swept on, and for an instant he was on the verge of withdrawing his hands and crushing her to him, but something in his face had warned her. She dropped the hands she had been holding and said in an altered tone: "It's not just me; it's bigger than that. It's my work. We've come to be such good friends that I couldn't go on without you. My work would fail."

For a while he was silent, then he said very slowly and very bitterly: "Oh, it's just your work that needs me?"

"But, Anse," she argued, "my work is all that's biggest and best in me. You understand, don't you?"

For a moment his voice got away from him and he rose fiercely:

"I don't give a damn for your work!" he blazed out. "It's you I'm interested in. That's the sort of friend I am."

She looked up at his gleaming eyes. A little amazed, and he went on, quietly enough now:

"If I fails to hang Luke Thixton I'll be right now what ye prophesied for me twenty years hence—the leader of the wolf-pack that goes down an' gets trod on. I ain't never put no such strain on my influence as this is goin' to be. I've got to hold back the Haveys an' the McBriars whilst this court foolishness dawdles along, an' if I falls down Jeb is goin' to kilt Luke anyway. I'm doin' this because ye asks it; an' now I'll say good night to ye."

Juanita Holland stood looking at the door he had closed behind him, a wild sense of tumult and uneasiness in her heart.

"That's the sort of friend I am," she repeated to herself.

Morton and The Appeal.

Up to 1854, Morton was a most thorough-going Democrat, who stood for the compromises of 1880 and 1850 and decried abolitionists. He was looked upon as the next Democratic candidate for Congressman and had been mentioned for the United States senate, by the Sentinel, the state Democratic organ. Then in the Kansas-Nebraska bill, his party prepared to undo the very thing for which Morton firmly stood—the principle of the compromise of 1820. If the party was right before it was now wrong. Morton saw that it was not only wrong, but politically a great mistake as well. He prepared to save Indiana Democracy from self-destruction by keeping it from endorsing the Kansas Nebraska principle.

Pyorrhea—the disease nearly everybody has

No matter how sound your teeth may seem to be, no matter how you may scoff at the idea of your having this disease, it is a positive fact that the germ which causes it is working now in your teeth.

The appalling discovery of this fact—that the germ which causes pyorrhea is one which inhabits every human mouth—was made over a year ago. Since then dentists have been urging everyone to take special precautions in their daily toilet to prevent this disease from developing in its acute form of bleeding gums, tenderness in chewing and loose teeth.

STEEL PLANTS LOOK FOR BIG ORDERS IN AMERICA

Improvements Costing Millions Are Contemplated, According to Reports from Centers.

By United Press

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Steel centers of the Middle West, according to reliable information sources here, are now experiencing only a small part of the prosperity that ultimately is due in this industry.

A local official of the United States Steel Corporation, said today that improvements and big additions to plants costing many millions of dollars can be looked for within a short time. These improvements and additions are in addition to those that already have been announced from time to time in the past month or six weeks. South Chicago, Gary and other northern Indiana steel industry centers are to be particularly affected by the booming of the trade.

Tremendous orders—and not all of them by any means war orders—of course, are the cause of this unprecedented scheme for enlarging steel plants. More open hearths are to be installed and some plants, it is said, will be wholly revamped and renovated.

Besides the rush of orders classified in the war munitions line, mention is frequently and repeatedly made of enormous railroad supply orders that Russia has made or is to make in the near future in the furtherance of that country's vast scheme to open up more of its unlimited territories with railroad lines. It was pointed out today that besides the great steel supplies that will be necessary to rebuild and replace structures and bridges destroyed in the war, there will be a general rush of almost all European countries to erect many new structures and spans over rivers, after the war is over.

J. H. ANDREWS BECOMES TRUSTEE OF THE CLUB

Edwin O. Heuser, by Virtue of New Position, is Treasurer of Farmers' Club.

According to the by-laws of the Farmers' Club the board of trustees is composed of the presidents of the three leading banks of this city, and automatically J. H. Andrews, who was recently elected president of the Jackson County Loan & Trust Company, becomes one of the three trustees. The by-laws also state that the cashier of the largest bank in the city shall be treasurer of the Club. In accordance with this provision Edwin O. Heuser, who was elected to succeed Mr. Andrews at the First National Bank, fills that office.

This is the first time any changes have been made in the board of trustees or other offices since the Farmers' Club was incorporated, and shows the excellent system under which its trustees are appointed. The board is perpetuating and vacancies will not remain for a longer time than is required to elect the presidents of the banks when that office is vacant.

MERELY PITY.

vast mass of our weak, poor and the oppressed is precisely that it is merely pity. The pity is pitiful, but not respectful. Men feel that the cruelty to the poor is a kind of cruelty to animals. They never feel that it is injustice to equals. Nay, it is, treachery to comrades.
